In very old towns we hear of very old business stands; and they are good. Everybody ought to like them. But the case of an old business that continues to be good with-out the help of a wise and straightforward publicity, is almost, if not wholly, unknown. The very fact that a bosiness is advertised causes many people to patronize it. They reason that a merchant who has not embraced the advantages of this latest of modern business methods is limble to be begind the times in his stock and in his methods. It follows, too, that the clean, crisp, direct advertisement that bears all of the marks of honesty is the best The very appearance of it often helps it.

Attorneys Differ in Opinion as to Its Desirability.

THE NEW CODE CRITICISED

All Admit That the Old Code Was Bulky and Inconvenient, But Some Find Features in Commissioner Seymonr's Condensation That Do Not Please Them,

The complete and thorough revision of rules of practice to be followed by Patent Office attorneys in preparing and presenting their cases, promulgated Tuesday by Hon, John S. Seymour, commissioner of Patents, has precipitated a warm and vigorous discussion, and no little antagonism among the local corps of patent at torneys, as well as attorneys in other cities. The Patent Office holds that the old rules were of a conflicting and too technical nature, that they were the accumulation of many years, being patched up and amended with little system, and in many cases were ambiguous in their language, and difficult of interpretation. The present code, it is set forth, is the fruit of the labors of nissioner Seymour, and those under him who have been at work on it a long

The fact that the change was being made leaked out among the patent attorneys in this city, and in open meetings they protested against the action, charging that the commissioner was acting in a highhanded manuer, and a committee of lawyers was talked of to insist upon a bearing. They contended that changes heretofore made by the commissioners of patents were decided upon only after consultation with representative attorneys, and after their views on the matter had been explained, and a conference with the commissioner at which the rules should be gone over in extenso was demanded as their right. A special committee of the Patent Ear Association was appointed to confer with the Commissioners concerning the changes This committee consisted of Gen. Ellis Spear, William Cranch McIntire, James L. Norris, Jesse H. Whittaker, William H. Doshittle, and William G. Henderson. To this compattee the commissioner explained the proposed rules, stating that he had talked with leading attorneys of the country before making up his mind, and set forth that the revision is of immense advantage to the prefession and a liberalization of the spirit of the patent laws. At the request of the committee, the rules were referred to it for consideration, and on February 1 a report was made to the commissioner to the effect that it was the comion of the association that it would be the best policy to adhere to the existing form of rules and to make no changes, excepting such as the practice of the office might absolutely require in

The rules, the association contended, were the result of many years' experience on the part of the office, and were the outowth of that experience. Any change in per pound. the rules or in the forms of the rules would be considered by them as an exil. It would be a matter of convenience to preserve even the familiar numbers of the rules. Any defect in order of arrangement or lack of condensation, or any in felicity of expression, was regarded by the association as of small importance compared with the certainty, stability and uniformity of practice as well as familiarity acquired by long study. The committee stated that it could not commend the changes made by the Comsioner, by which an applicant is required to amend his case within six months after official action on the same, owing to the fact, that they, as a committee, could not sanction the adoption of a practice which the association believed to be in to 12 1-2c per pound; sweet pickled pork, conflict with the statute. This conclusion so, to 11c per pound; Western, do., 8c. conflict with the statute. This conclusion cause of the fact that legislation is now | pig tails, &c. per pound; hog brains, 10c pending before Congress, to barmonize the statute with the present requirement of burg steak, 124-2c per pound. the rules, and until such consideration is given by Congress, as shall result in the passage of a law relating to the matter, it ould be unwise, from the committee standpoint, to incorporate such a provision in the rules of the office.

The old rules occupied sixty pages of panipulet form, and the mass of verbiage and useless stuff stated to have burdened the old system is shown by the fact that the new code will take up only one-third as much room. Mr. W. E. Boulter, when asked his opinion as to the change of code, by a Times reporter yesterday, said that he had not as yet carefully examined the revised code, and could not say whether Commissioner Seymonr had remedied de fects in the old code or not. "There were 229 rules in the old code," said Mr. Boulter, "and 87 in the new code, and it seems to me that the Commi has not departed from the old rules, but rather has made the new code a densation of the old one. There There were defects in the old one, and if the com-missioner has remedied those defects I m heartily in favor of the change." Mr. Julian C. Dowell of the firm of Butterworth & Dowell, said that he had not as yet examined the revised code, and therefore could not speak authorita-tively on the subject. "If the commisstoner has repaired the evils existing in the old code—and there were many defects-I am in favor of the change think that the condensation, if it is a condensation of the old code, will be bene ficial to patent attorneys. Of course the old rules were the result of many years' experience on the part of commisioners and practicing attorneys, but there does not appear to be grounds for object tion if the old rules are condensed and set Mr. Joseph L. Atkins is on the other side of the fence as regards the revision, "I condemn the change," said Mr. Atkins, "We had precedents before, but now we are in a measure at sea. We cannot know law until it has been ruled upon by a judge. I was present at the meeting on February 1, at which the matter was first discussed by patent attorneys here, and I condemned the policy of changing the code then and am noless in favor of it now." Mr. W. T. Fitzgerald, of the firm of Fitzgerald & Co., said that he had not examined the revised code as yet. He admitted that the old code was defective in many points. "If the Commissioner has done away with all the old defects," he said, "I think he has done a wise thing in promulgating the new rules."

Interviews with other leading patent attorneys elicited the fact that there is a wide divergence of opinion in regard to the matter. The opinion seems general that the revision will entail a certain amount of embarrassment at first, but the fact is admitted that the old code was somewhat bulky and combersome.

A Sunday School Mass Meeting. Under the auspices of the District Sunday School Union a mass meeting will be held this evening at Brightwood, at which a variety of topics of interest to Sunday School workers will be discussed. W. A WILL DECLARED INVALID

The Jury Held That Undue Influ ence Had Been Exercised.

The will of the late Mary J. Smithdevising her property to her two daugh-ters, was declared invalid yesterday by a jury in Judge Cole's court. The caveator to the will was Miss Effic Smith, a granddaughter of the deceased. Her father, who was the son of Mrs. Smith, has been dead some time. It was charged that the will thetestatrix was lacking in mental capacity The caveatee, Charles W. Alexander, the executor named in the will, disputed these sertions, but was defeated by the action of the jury, which brought in a scaled verdict today, after being locked up over A Revolving Idiot, peculiar to her sex. If women could only be made to understand that there is a positive, safe and speedy cure for all these ills the world would be infinitely brighter than it is world would be infinitely brighter than it is to-day. For thirty years Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., has made a specialty of the diseases of women. He is a regularly graduated, experienced and successful physician and his "Favorite Prescription" has cured more women than all the doctor. The more women than all the doctors. The story of the "Favorite Prescription" is told in thousands of testimonials similar to the one of J. F. Beverly, Esq., of Goliad, Goliao Co., Texas, who writes:

Goliao Co., Texas, who writes:

"My wife suffered from cold feet and fainting spells, heaviness and soreness in the lower part of the stomach, also heart trouble, loss of appetite, tired fielings, rest broken—could not sleep. I tried five doctors in one county and two in another. None of them gave her relie! She suffered five years. She was helpless—could not walk from the bed to the fire-place. The last doctor pronounced the complaint inflammation of the uteris; and after five visits claimed that it was a peculiar case, and said that if I desired, I could consult some other physician. So I wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce, and after receiving an answer from Dr. Pierce I did as he directed. My wife used two bottles of Dr. Pierce's Pellets, and used the local home-treatment he advised. Before my wife had used the first bottle of the medicine she felt the good effect and said one bottle would be enough. I insisted on her using two bottles, and she did so. Now she is sound and well, and I can praise your medicine to the extreme."

BILIOUSNESS is a sign of a serious condition of the digestive organs. It is caused by constipation, from which springsmine-tenths of all human illnesses. Constipation can be permanently and positively cured by only one thing, and that is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They assist Nature. They are easy and pleasant in their action. They cause no unpleasantness, no griping. You do not become a slave to their use. One "Pellet" is arguilla laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Further Trials May Grow Out of the Clark Case.

Ellis Day's Condition Is Critical, Lieut, Monroe's Resignation-A Colored Man Badly Burned,

As stated in the Evening Times the jury in the case of Joseph Clark, on trial for criminally assaulting his thirteen-yearold sister-in-law. Ada Jenckins, yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of guitty and fixed his punishment at nine years in the Richmond penitentiary. When ordered to stand up to receive the sentence Clark made denial of his guilt. A motion for a new trial was overruled. The case was disposed of in less than three hours. It is stated that several members of the jury were unfavorable to capital punishment, It is intimated that the parties who were instrumental in coercing the little girl into repudiating her first account of the affair may be prosecuted. When questioned last night in regard to this matter Commonwealth's Attorney Marbury did not deny that there was a probability of the affair being investigated, but stated that he did not care to discuss it at this time.

Ellis Day, colored, who was seriously stabbed on Tuesday night by Tim Henderson, as reported in The Times, is resting quietly at the infirmary, and it is now thought there are chances for his recovery, though his condition is still critical. Her derson has been committed to jail to await the result of Day's injuries.
